Motorcycles With Sidecar Become Autos.

Attorney General John H. Light thinks that motorcycles having a swinging basket attached to the side, thus having more than two wheels coming in contact with the ground, are in the class of automobiles, according to the definition of a motor vehicle. The attorney general says that dealers might try to evade the higher registration by selling the sidecar as a separate article, but he says the attachments are considered as permanent fixtures.

FUNERALS.

Thomas V. Cottrell.

Thomas V. Cottrell, the old time Western auctioneer, who married Annie Moran, a Norwich woman, for his second wife, was buried Thursday in River Bend cemetery in Westerly beside his first wife and one of his children. Mr. Cottrell ran the High street auction rooms in Westerly in 1899 and was known over a wide territory as a big-hearted, likeable man, whose income could never keep pace with his charities. He had traveled a great deal in his youth, and after his bereavement in 1901 he took $500 and went to California, where he was sold by the time, of locating on the coast, but he preferred the east after a few months in California, and 1903-4 found him running a restaurant in New Haven. Then, for a summer or two, he had a livery stable at Pleasant View. A good many Norwich, New London and North Stonington people knew "Tom" Cottrell, who was a bitter anti-McKinley republican.

THE DOUBLE GUARANTEE

When you buy a standard, nationally advertised article from a merchant of standing and character you are buying with the double protection to yourself.

You have a double guarantee to fall back on—that of the manufacturer and that of the man who sells the goods.

You of course have to deal only with the store from which you buy; the store, in turn, looks to the manufacturer to make good for any deficiency.

It is not often that anyone will have need of the guarantee, for when a thing is sold by such open and above-board methods it is going to be as nearly right as can be purchased.

There is a protection in buying advertised goods that there isn't in buying those which are not advertised.

The best guide to reliable buying is the nationally advertised newspapers like The Bulletin.

More people are reading and advertising every day because it pays.

OWNERS IN NEWLY OPENED TRACTS

Assessors Checking Up Lot Holders—Many Do Not Record

Deeds—One Person Was Advised This Was the Way to Dodge Paying Taxes—Confusion Through Duplicate Street Names.

Feeling sure that there were many owners of lots in a number of new tracts that have been opened up in the city within the past few years who were not putting the real estate that they bought into the tax list, the assessors have been for some time past engaged in checking up the various tracts. This has been done by securing the blue print plan showing the lot of the lots and going through it, lot by lot, determining the owners, and then finding out whether they had this property in the lists.

Clark Curran said on Thursday that they were making good progress with the work and that it was surprising and at the same time satisfying to the assessors to find that they were unearthing a considerable number of pieces of property, sold by the developers, but never yet put into the list and they hoped to record the deeds.

In one case where Assessor John P. Murphy had made a call in search of a possible owner of some lots in question, the woman who was the owner said that she had her deed all safe and that a very intelligent gentleman had told her long ago that she was safe from being burned or destroyed, without recording it, she would never have to pay any taxes.

Clerk Curran said that he supposed that people who did this to keep out of the way of the tax list might not feel so comfortable if they knew that their property was being assessed and that they would be compelled to pay this tax, could come back on them for twice what he had been compelled to pay for them in taxes.

The list of new tracts opened up and in which there have been sales of lots which the assessors propose to look up before they get the tax list, with the job is quite a lengthy one, and which West End park, Whalom park, Potter Manor, Riverview park, Central park, Golden Heights, Parkview, Highland terrace at Occum, the Maenhercher lots, Thames park, Pleasant View park, Prospect park, Prospect park annex and Shetucket Heights.

Confusion Naming of Streets.

One thing that the assessors call attention to is the confusion naming of streets, existing not only in the newer parts of the city but in the older named streets as well. Clerk Curran has made up the following list of 25 double namings and one triple that are frequent causes for confusion:

Arnold street and Beech Drive, Beech street and Beech Drive.

SHAREHOLDERS' AGENT IN FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

Charles R. Butts Elected—Receiver Murray's Services Have Ended.

Pursuant to an order issued by T. P. Kane, acting comptroller of the currency, there was a meeting at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Thames National bank for the stockholders of the First National bank, which has been closed and in the hands of a receiver since the 15th of April last year.

The meeting had an attendance of about forty, and was for the purpose of deciding whether the receivership should be continued or whether an agent should be elected to whom the assets of the bank would be turned over.

The meeting was called to order by A. H. Brewer, who is president of the Norwich Savings society and represented that bank. He was invited to take the chair for the time being, and John L. Mitchell was elected secretary.

Mr. Brewer was then elected permanent chairman. Henry W. Tibbets and Charles D. Noyes were elected tellers.

One of the questions of the meeting was in favor of continuing the liquidation of the bank with a shareholders' agent rather than continue the services of English and French, who was the only nominee for shareholders' agent, and was elected to that position unanimously.

The meeting adjourned at 3 o'clock after a short discussion of affairs relative to the liquidation.

At the present time what the assets of the bank will amount to cannot be stated. One of the questions of the meeting was in favor of the department at Washington, and it is understood that when this is done the agent will be required to file a bond of $5,000 with the department.

Receiver Harold G. Murray was present at the meeting, coming from Lowell, where he is in charge of the "Prudential" which has failed. His office here at the Uncas National bank will be closed in a few days. In the Lowell bank failure the stockholders have been assessed 100 per cent.

COURTMARTIAL ENDED.
Will Be Several Weeks Before Verdict in Koshier Case Is Known.

New London, Conn., March 12.—The courtmartial of Major Benjamin M. Koshier on charges of immoral conduct ended at Fort Terry today. No unusual incident marked the proceedings today, the accused officer listening to the final testimony with a characteristic calm throughout the hearing.

No intimation was obtainable of the result of the trial, and it is expected that it will be three or four weeks before it is known.

OBITUARY.
Mrs. Charles Thomas Avery.

News was received on Thursday by relatives in this city of the death of Mrs. Charles Thomas Avery, who died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Hough Avery, widow of Charles Thomas Avery, formerly of East Lyme, and daughter of the Rev. Lent S. Hough.

Mrs. Avery has visited in Norwich several times. Her mother's brother, Rev. Eli Smith, was the noted minister in establishing the American and Nestorian missions, who translated the Bible into Arabic, and who in company with Prof. Edward Robinson made a remarkable exploration of Palestine in 1835, which is said to have "opened the second great era of our knowledge of the Promised Land." His second wife was Miss Sarah L. Huntington of Norwich.

No Damage Done in Runaway.
Thursday forenoon a grocery delivery team figured in a runaway on Broadway. Just as the boy driver hopped into the seat the horse started off at high speed. The boy, unable to control the horse, tried to turn up Church street, but could not, and so in front of the Chapman building jumped out, landing on his hands and knees, but did not get hurt. At the Wauregan corner the horse was stopped when he fell. No damage was done to either horse, wagon or boy.

The Outrages Committed by the militant suffragette May Richardson, on the famous Velasquez painting, known as the "Rokeby Venus" in the National gallery, at London, will bar American and other tourists from seeing many of England's art treasures during the coming season as the state apartments in Windsor Castle will be closed until further orders.

Tanner street and Tanner avenue.
Thames street and Thames Terrace.
Washington street and Washington Place.

White street and White's Court.
Williams street and Williams avenue.
Winchester street and Winchester Place.

In most cases a street and an avenue or a place or a court of the same name are in widely separated parts of the city, as will be seen from the list. It would not be so bad if the similarly named streets had any relation to each other as regards location, but this is rarely the case.

In addition to the above list there is an Alice street in Prospect park and an Alice street off S2 Asylum street, a Braden street in Central park and a Braden street in Pleasant View park; a School street in the city and a School street in Taffville; Pleasant street in the city and a Pleasant street in Norwich town; Thomas street on the West Side and another in Whalom park; a John street on Jail Hill and a street of the same name in Shetucket Heights.

There is also a Lafayette street at the Falls and another at Highland terrace, but the most favored name of all on block, Swedish church, and these, respectively in Prospect park, Shetucket Heights, Whalom park, Thames park and Central park.

Secretary Curran's suggested remedy for this piling up of street names would be a possible submission to the selectmen of the names to be given to new streets to be opened up, so that near-duplicates could be avoided.

SAW TROOPS REVIEWED ALONG MEXICAN BORDER.
James I. Hewitt Returns from Trip to Texas—Saw No Insurgents.

James I. Hewitt of the Laurel Hill road has just returned from a six week trip through the south and a short stay in Texas. Mr. Hewitt went from here to Washington and spent a day in the capital city and from there went to Atlanta and Montgomery and stopped off several days at New Orleans. He thinks this place is one of the most interesting places he has ever seen. He spent two weeks there looking at the old relics and other places of interest and he says he did not see all the city. Right about the middle of the trip he stopped, staying at Passado for quite a while.

On the border he says that there are camps every now and then of soldiers stationed to prohibit the Mexicans from intruding. The officers live in little wooden houses built for the purpose while the soldiers live in tents. At Texas City Mr. Hewitt saw one of the greatest sights he ever saw. He happened to be present to see a grand review of all the soldiers in that city about 10,000 in all. The soldiers in the review were fully equipped for war and made a great show. He saw a group of English officers who were at that time stationed in Galveston harbor on a large English battleship.

Mr. Hewitt saw some of the Mexicans, but not any of the insurgents and along the border there are stationed about 5,000 to 6,000 men. Other places of interest he visited were Houston, Laocka, Victoria, and Passado. Mr. Hewitt had heard a lot about the sweet Satuna oranges that are grown at Lake Passado so he bought some and he said they were fine. Thinking they were what he was looking for he relished them and on further inquiry found that he had received the oranges from the band, came from California and they so resembled the Satuna oranges that it was hard to distinguish the difference.

SOCIAL BY HEBREW LADIES' ZION SOCIAL.
First They Have Given Was a Big Success.

The dance was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Rosa Edman, Mrs. Rosa Rosenberg, Mrs. Bertha Wechsler and Mrs. G. Navick, who were assisted by S. Carpelman and O. Wechsler. Among the interesting features of the evening were two handsomely decorated cakes, one contributed by Mrs. S. Carpelman, who is president and the other by Miss Sophy Alofsin. The latter cake was awarded during the evening to Peter John.

The proceeds of the dance will be given towards the Hebrew school. The Hebrew Ladies' Zion society was organized on December 21 with the following officers: President, Mrs. S. Carpelman; vice president, Mrs. B. Wechsler; secretary, Mrs. D. Ohlitz; treasurer, Mrs. Sophy Alofsin; trustees, Mrs. D. Buchik, Mrs. Hannah Fox and Mrs. Rosa Rosenberg.
